Course Number and Title: AUB Choir: CS 242, a, b

1. Course Learning Outcomes

Choir participation teaches a body of musical art and literature, as well as musical performance skills. Members will demonstrate proper voice production (alignment, breathing, coordination), accurate intonation and vowel formation, rhythmic accuracy, expressive diction in a number of languages (presently English (American and British Standard), German, Roman Latin, and Arabic), understanding of poetic text content, and ensemble unity. Additional learning outcomes include increased fluency in reading musical notation, increased efficiency in group work, and a general increase in social skills.

2. Resources Available to Students

Desired resources include music practice rooms with pianos and mirrors, and midi-capable sound and computer equipment to facilitate learning. These are not presently available, due to lack of budget allocation. Presently, rehearsals are the only resource available to students for achieving course outcomes.
